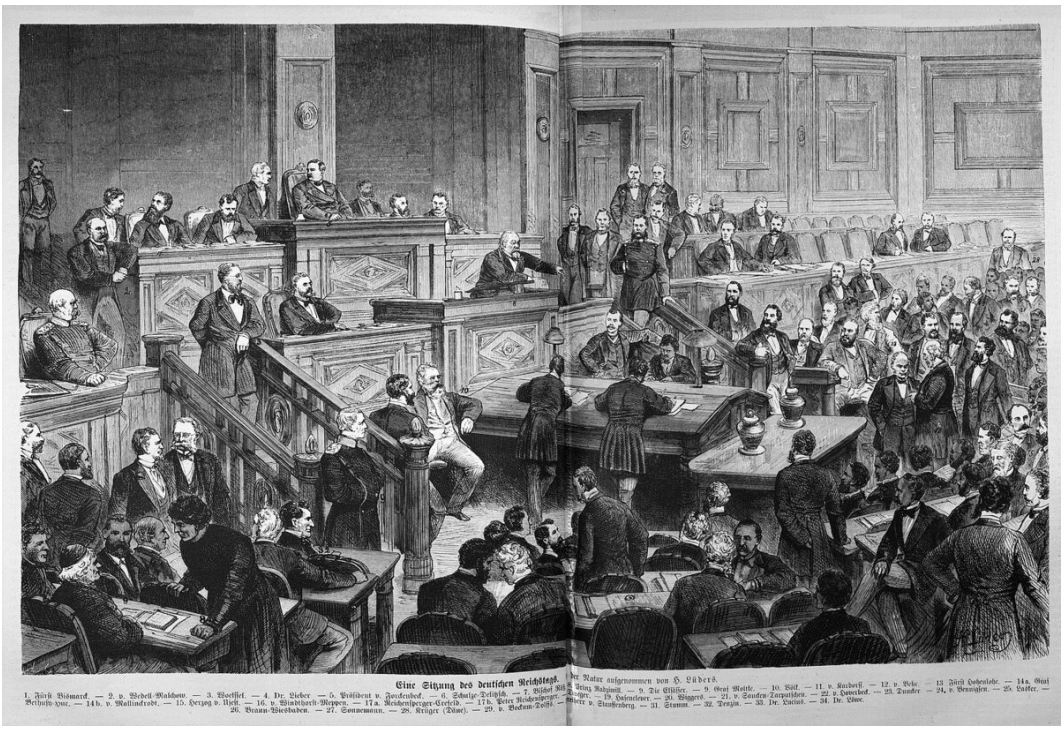
A Session of the German Reichstag (1874)

Abstract

This scene of a Reichstag plenary session in 1874 shows the left-liberal deputy Hermann Schulze-Delitzsch at the speaker's podium. Bismarck can be seen at left, as can Helmuth von Moltke, who stands at the bottom of the stairway. This woodcut, "A Meeting of the German Reichstag," was based on a drawing by Hermann Lüders; it appeared in the popular family journal Die Gartenlaube.

Source



Source: "Eine Sitzung des deutschen Reichstags. Nach der Natur aufgenommen von H. Lüders" ["A Meeting of the German Reichstag. Done from nature by H. Lüders"], Die Gartenlaube, no. 18 (1874), pp. 294–95. Available online at Wikisource, https://de.wikisource.org/wiki/Die_Gartenlaube_(1874)/Heft_18

Recommended Citation: A Session of the German Reichstag (1874), published in: German History in Documents and Images, <https://germanhistorydocs.org/en/forging-an-empire-bismarckian-germany-1866-1890/ghdi:image-1414> [May 03, 2024].