

“Chancellor’s Love” (1882)

Abstract

Bismarck embraces his political offspring. The Progressives (with “F.” standing for “Fortschrittler”) are banished to the shadows, and Bismarck has half-turned away from the Centre Party leader Ludwig Windthorst (1812–1891). The National Liberals get due attention, but “brother farmer” and another “agrarian” are conspicuous favorites. The caption reads: “One after the other! Each well-behaved child will get his turn.”

Source

Source: “Kanzlerliebe” [“Chancellor’s Love”] (1882), from Wilhelm Scholz, Bismarck-Album Des Kladderadatsch. 12. Aufl. Berlin: A. Hofmann, 1890, p. 143. Available online at Hathi-Trust, <https://hdl.handle.net/2027/gri.ark:/13960/t9b60pw68?urlappend=;seq=151>

Recommended Citation: “Chancellor’s Love” (1882), published in: German History in Documents and Images, <<https://germanhistorydocs.org/en/forging-an-empire-bismarckian-germany-1866-1890/ghdi:imagine-1462>> [May 03, 2024].