

Ulrich von Hutten (16th Century)

Abstract

Perhaps the most famously atypical Imperial knight of his generation, Ulrich von Hutten attended universities in the Holy Roman Empire and Italy, served the emperor in the Italian wars and later as the elector of Mainz, composed many anti-Roman and anticlerical diatribes, and took part in the Knights' Revolt of 1522-23.

Source

Source: Portrait of Ulrich von Hutten. Woodcut by Erhard Schön, around 1522. Kupferstichkabinett Berlin, SMB. Available online from Museum Digital, <https://global.museum-digital.org/object/3165223>

Kupferstichkabinett Berlin, SMB/Dietmar Katz

Recommended Citation: Ulrich von Hutten (16th Century), published in: German History in Documents and Images, <<https://germanhistorydocs.org/en/from-the-reformations-to-the-thirty-years-war-1500-1648/ghdi:image-3256>> [April 03, 2025].